

Colombia's New Landowners

This Week's PICTURE SHOW by Carl Purcell.

Old and new in Colombia: ox-drawn plow (left) versus mini-tractor for small farms (right), designed by University of Nebraska under contract with A.I.D.

The land: rolling foothills of the Andes rise up beyond the rich, fertile plains of river valleys.

There has been a peaceful revolution in Colombia—an agrarian revolution as a result of which more than 7.5 million acres of land now belong to the farmers who till them.

Colombia's Agrarian Reform Institute came into being in 1961, to get land reforms under way, and to keep them going. Since then, over 100,000 families have been granted title to public lands or land acquired by purchase, expropriation or through gifts. Three quarters of them now have about 50 acres of land each. In 1969, 80,000 families were buying their own farms as part of the government's program.

The U.S. and international agencies are playing an important part in the transformation. The U.S. Agency for International Development (A.I.D.) has helped substantially in the area of supervised credit—to the extent of loans of more than $18.5 million—and with technical assistance.

Many of the new landowner-farmers used to work as sharecroppers, or scratched a living from an over-worked, crowded strip of land. The present average small farmer has more than doubled his income over a two year period.

And when a man owns his land himself the rewards are much more than those counted up by the statisticians for economic reports.

Colombian cowboy rides the range: it may be a small range, but it belongs to him, now.

To own one's land is a joy beyond words, not to be measured by statistics.

There are loans for land and tool buying—plus advice and technical help.

Mechanization of a fruit farm.

Pride of ownership: a future dairy herd? Coffee is still important (Colombia is second only to Brazil as exporter) but diversity is being developed and encouraged.

South wasted no time getting into a position where he couldn't make his contract. His play to the first trick was fine. There was no point in not playing dummy's ace of spades. At trick two he led the king of trumps and the contract had found its way to that "bourne of space and time from which no traveler returns."

He played just as quickly when he led a trump at trick three. The 4-1 trump break gave him pause and he did the best he could by drawing trumps and leading a club toward the dummy, but when East topped dummy's king with the ace, South had no way to avoid the loss of two tricks in each minor suit.

North was unhappy. "Too bad we don't play transfer bids. I would have made four hearts."

"Against some leads, yes. Against a spade lead, no," replied South.

"Want to bet?" asked North.

If a bet were made North would win. This is one of those hands where South should count to 10 before playing to trick two. He sees one spade, two diamonds and one club provided there aren't any minor suit singletons around. He can and should leave trumps alone and try to collect six trump tricks.

He doesn't need mirrors for this. Merely a simple dummy reversal. At trick two he ruffs a spade. Next comes a club lead to East's ace. Later he ruffs another spade with his last low trump, plays out his ace and queen of hearts if he feels like it, cashes two diamonds and a club, ruffs dummy's last spade with his last high trump and is left with dummy's king of hearts as his 10th trick.

Ellis Hurls Seasons First No-Hitter

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dock Ellis knew he had something going but the strong-armed Pittsburgh right-hander needed a slight adjustment and a diving teammate in hurling the first no-hitter of the 1970 season.

Ellis, a 25-year-old who claims, "You're supposed to mature at 21, I'm four years late," overcame his own wildness Friday night in stopping the San Diego Padres without a hit in the Pirates 2-0 victory in the opener of a two-night double-header.

The 6-foot-3, 196-pounder, was backed by a pair of homers by Willie Stargell and an acrobatic catch by second baseman Bill Mazeroski in achieving his masterpiece.

The Padres took the nightcap 5-2 while in other National League action, Cincinnati topped Philadelphia 3-1, New York crushed Atlanta 8-1, St. Louis whipped San Francisco 4-1, Chicago edged Los Angeles 2-1 and Montreal nipped Houston 7-6.

In the American League, Milwaukee stopped Cleveland 4-1, Oakland defeated Baltimore 4-2 in 11 innings, New York blanked Kansas City 5-0, Minnesota topped Boston 5-2, California downed Detroit 5-2 and Chicago zipped Washington 6-0.

Ellis, in his third major league season, now has a 5-4 season record and is 22-26 lifetime. He struck out six Padres Friday night but walked eight and hit a batter.

Last season Ellis was 11-17 and in a dispute with writers, refused to talk baseball. However, he changed his mind this season he says because, "I guess getting my rear kicked in by the hitters last year helped me. So I'm going to talk but mainly I'm going to pitch."

And that he did. The only close call was pinch hitter Ramon Webster's liner in the seventh inning that Mazeroski had to dive at to make a backhand stab.

The Padres came back to win the nightcap as Danny Coombs fired a five-hitter and Al Ferrara cracked a two-run fifth-inning homer, snapping a 2-2 tie.

Tony Perez, the majors' home run and runs batted in leader, ripped his 23rd homer, driving in his 65th and 66th RBI to back the eight-hit, 11 strikeout pitching of the Reds' rookie right-hander Wayne Simpson, who won his ninth game against one loss.

Tommy Agee slammed a pair of solo homers and two singles and scored four runs in leading the Mets over Atlanta.

Bob Gibson won his seventh game, limiting the Giants to five hits and crashing a homer and double. The Cards' ace right-hander struck out eight and walked three.

Don Kessinger, a late arrival due to a military commitment, stroked a seventh-inning run-scoring double, snapping a 1-1 tie and scoring Billy Williams with the winner. Lefty Ken Holtzman, 7-3, scattered five hits and Jim Hickman, running his hitting streak to 15 games, powered his 15th homer of the season for the Cubs.

John Bateman drilled a three-run homer in Montreal's four-run first inning as the Expos held off the Astros.

Grand Slam Lifts Brewers Over Tribe

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The road company of the Milwaukee Brewers, with Russ Snyder in the leading role, finally put on a hit Friday night after 17 consecutive flops.

The veteran outfielder walked a grand slam homer in the eighth inning after Cleveland pitcher Rich Hand issued three walks with two outs, powering the Brewers to a 4-1 victory, their first triumph away from home in 18 games.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox, another team that subscribes to the theory that home is where the heart and the wins are, dropped a 5-2 decision to the Twins in Minnesota; California beat Detroit 5-2, Oakland tripped Baltimore 4-2 in 11 innings, the New York Yankees blanked Kansas City 5-0 and the Chicago White Sox zeroed Washington 6-0 on Tommy John's two-hitter.

In the National League, Dock Ellis pitched a no-hitter as Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 2-0 in the opener of a two-nighter. The Padres won the nightcap 5-2. Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 3-1, the New York Mets trounced Atlanta 8-1, Montreal edged Houston 7-6, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 4-1 and Chicago whipped Los Angeles 2-1.

Milwaukee and Cleveland were locked in a scoreless struggle until Hand walked Gus Gil, pitcher Marty Pattin and Tommy Harper in the eighth and Snyder belted his third home run of the season. The Indians scored off Pattin in their half on a walk, wild pitch and Eddie Leon's singles.

The Brewers, a respectable 12-15 at home, had lost 24 of 29 road games, including all 10 in May, and hadn't won away from home since a 5-3 victory in Boston April 26.

The Red Sox, 20-8 in the friendly confines of Fenway Park, lost for the 19th time in 25 road contests as Ron Perranoski came on in the seventh to strike out Mike Andrews with two on and two out. The lefty reliever picked up his 14th save.

Winner Jim Perry singled home the first run of the game in the second inning. Brant Aleya and Leo Cardenas doubled runs across in the fifth and the Twins wrapped it up on in the eighth on run-scoring hits by George Mitterwald and Rod Carew. Tom Satirano homered for the Sox.

The Angels remained 2½ games behind Minnesota in the AL West as Jim Fregosi hit two homers and Billy Cowan one off Tiger starter John Hiller. Detroit's Bill Freehan connected off winner Andy Messersmith, 6-5, who scattered seven hits.

The East Division race, which once looked like a runaway for Baltimore, tightened up some more as the Orioles lost and the Yankees won to pull within four games of the Birds.

The A's and Orioles went to the 11th inning tied 2-2 on solo homers by Campy Campaneris and Rick Monday in the first for Oakland and Clay Dalrymple and Don Buford in the sixth for Baltimore.

But in the 11th, Dick Green was hit by a pitch from Eddie Watt, Mudcat Grant sacrificed and Campaneris hit a tie-breaking double and scored himself on Reggie Jackson's double.

Reliever Grant blanked the Orioles over the last four innings and pitched out of three scoring threats while lowering his earned run average to a sparkling 0.83 in 26 appearances.

Fritz Peterson hurled a five-hitter for the Yanks in becoming the first pitcher to blank the Royals this season. Two errors helped New York to two runs in the third off Dave Morehead, Danny Cater singled a run home in the fifth and Jerry Kenney tripled in the seventh, scoring on Bobby Murcer's single, and homered in the ninth.

Syd O'Brien slammed a solo homer and Ken Berry a three-run shot in support of John's pitching as the White Sox baf-

Belmonte Has a Way with A Nag

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Eddie Belmonte, the Puerto Rican jockey, is enjoying the best year of his career, professionally and sartorially.

Not only does this year's Preakness winner lead the nation's jockeys in money won in 1970 with more than $500,000, but he also leads them in colors worn—off the track.

Witness for example, the velvet suit of his own design in pink and green—Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' colors—unveiled at the Kentucky Derby, the first of his Triple Crown outings aboard her Personality. It is due for showing for the cultural edification of New York fans should Personality run in the Belmont Stakes on June 6 at Belmont Park.

Despite his flamboyant taste in clothes, the 27-year-old Belmonte is modest about his emergence as one of the nation's leading jockeys.

"I'm just having more luck this year," he said recently at Aqueduct after winning the $100,000-added Wood Memorial with Personality.

"And with all the good horses I'm getting to ride, I have more confidence."

H. Allen Jenkins, trainer for Jack J. Dreyfus' Hobbeau Farm, for whom Belmonte won the $100,000-added Widener Handicap with Never Bow last winter, also stressed the confidence factor in discussing Belmonte's metamorphosis from a rookie rider to the polished rider he is today.

"Eddie," Jenkins said, "is riding with more confidence this year. Good mounts have increased his self-assurance, and that has helped him get the most out of ordinary horses. Horses are sensitive to this feeling of self-confidence in riders."

"Aside from that, horses always seem to run in best stride for Eddie. It's a matter of rhythm and balance, I guess. He always was a fine 'gate' rider, but now that he's settled down, he's also one of the best distance riders I know."

Eddie's affinity for animals—not only horses—is widely known. "I really like derson, San Francisco 49. Runs batted in—Perez, Cincinnati 66; Benc, Cincinnati 55. ## IRA BERKOW

Mumbo Jumbo In Sports World

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sports is no longer the cloistered world of sweat it was way back in the dim past of, say, six or even five years ago.

Once, the fresh-faced, gape-mouthed aspirant to a job as sportswriter was grilled on his knowledge of such phrases as "the hot corner," "the gridiron," "cagers" and "runs like a gazelle."

The change is reflected in what sports editors expect of job applicants nowadays. Witness a recent interview we were privy to.

"Son," said this typical hard-bitten sports editor, "to be a sportswriter in the 1970s, you must be conversant with the following phrases. Ready?"

"Right on," said the youthful applicant, whose name happened to be Allie Mode.

"O.K. What's a 'court'?" asked the editor.

"Once also known as the 'hardwood' but now a place where people like Curt Flood and umpires like Bill Valentine and Al Salerno, and NBA player representatives opposing a merger with the ABA, and a boxer like Cassius Clay suit up," replied the young man.

"Reserve."

"Formerly meant 'substitute.' Now it means 'slave,' as in 'slave clause.'"

"Strike."

"Something baseball players threaten if . . . if . . ."

"Go on, go on—I think you're in the right direction."

"If the owners balk in rejecting players' demands for shorter schedule, better pension plan and so forth."

"Balk! Perfect usage. What about 'The Bomb'?"

"Archaic for long pass in football. Now, the threat of which clears out whole stadiums while demolition experts determine where it is hidden or whether it was a hoax."

"Circuit blow."

"In olden days, cliché for home run. But now—what will happen to Clay if his appeal fails in New Orleans."

"Commercial."

"Once associated with beer. Now, Alpine skiing, ice hockey, soccer, basketball, boxing and figure skating, as defined by Avery Brundage."

"Guard."

"At one time, it designated positions in football and basketball. Now, something athletes fret over when there is a postal strike: (vide: Mike Riordan and Cazzie Russell of the Knicks) or campus unrest (check with Leroy Kelly of the Browns)."

"Protest."

"Once synonymous with 'rhubarb.' But that's ancient. Today, it is an outlet for an athlete's convictions on foreign and domestic issues."

"Quarterback option."

"What Joe Kapp of the Vikings has just played out of."

"Race."

"Years ago, it was something people associated with Paavo Nurmi, Jesse Owens, Roger Bannister, Jim Ryun and other antediluvians. But it's so obvious. Must I go on?"

"Of course not. You've done fine. You have a superior working knowledge of most of the current sporting terms. But it is not enough to be 'engaged' and with it able to read and interpret Supreme Court decisions; the modern sportswriter must also know what a 'sentence' is."

"A sentence, sir, is, and I quote from memory, 'a unit of speech consisting of a meaningful arrangement of words, or merely a word, that expresses an assertion, a question, a command, a wish, or an exclamation, and typically containing a subject or a predicate, or only a predicate.'"

"Sorry. But in this age a sentence is something from which Cassius Clay is seeking a reversal. Try us next year, kid."

Hot Springs Has Woman Candidate

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — As the first woman ever to run for mayor of Hot Springs, Kathrynne Watson Gladdis says, if elected, she will push to change to a city manager form of government.

That would leave the post of mayor primarily a figurative one.

"Having a mayor was fine at one time, but this isn't the 19th Century anymore," she said. "A city manager is a businessman and a city should be operated with efficiency, like a business."

Mrs. Gladdis filed Tuesday for the Democratic primary race. Her opponents are five males, including the incumbent, Dan Wolf, for whom the woman has few kind words.

"I think he's outdated," she said. "He hasn't done a very good job. This is the year he will get beaten."

"Mayor Wolf was born in the gambling era and still has the gambling mentality," Mrs. Gladdis said. "I think it's time we get away from that."

The 41-year-old divorcee describes herself as an independent character and her past reflects the kind of things that would stand well on the record of any man proud to have answered the call of wanderlust.

Born in Oklahoma, she lived in California, went to college in Michigan, did ranch work in Nevada, spent about a year hitch-hiking around Australia, married in England and divorced in Arkansas.

She said she was too independent for her former husband, George Frederick Gladdis of the Isle of Wight. The couple had a son, George Frederick Jr., age 4.

"When I decided I would run for mayor, I told my son, 'Mommy's going to run for mayor,'" Mrs. Gladdis said in an interview. "He thought about it for a minute and then he said, 'Can I go too?'"

Mrs. Gladdis happened upon Hot Springs about 20 years ago by accident. Traveling from California to visit her brother, a chemical scientist in Washington, D.C., she took a wrong turn.

"I didn't even know Hot Springs was here," she said. "But it grows on you. Once you come here, you always come back."

That was in the heyday of generally unrestrained activity in the casinos that thrived in the resort city, but Mrs. Gladdis said she never tried her hand at the gambling.

"I only bet on sure things," she said. "And everything I've ever done has been a sure thing."

She declined, however, to put the "sure thing" appellation upon her own candidacy, "but I do think I'll win."

Women have reacted most favorably to her bid for mayor, she said, "but I'm surprised at the number of men who have had nice things to say about it."

Commentary Is Banned By Baptists

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — In preparation for the big moment, the Rev. Gwin Turner, of Los Angeles, says he went on a four-day fast of prayer and abstinence from food. He took only water.

It calmed his nerves, he says, and made him feel "better than ever."

Then, when the time came, he made his move last week before thousands of fellow Southern Baptists. He asked them to do an unprecedented thing—to ban a book, a newly published Bible commentary. They did it.

"A victory for God and for the vast majority of Southern Baptists," he said.

But it sharply disturbed Baptist educators, sensitive to tenets of academic freedom, scholarly research, student concerns and the long-standing Baptist tradition for individual liberty of conscience and belief.

Yet it also dramatized the Baptist esteem for the Bible as a mainstay of their faith, and showed the feelings of the huge, mass-participation convention that Holy Scriptures were endangered by modern scholarly analysis.

So the Southern Baptist Convention, the country's biggest Protestant body, numbering 11.5 million members, cracked down on the Scripture-sleuthing process by a recorded ballot of 5,394 to 2,170.

They called for withdrawal of Volume I of a new Broadman Bible Commentary, being issued by the denomination's publishing arm, and the rewriting of it in "consideration of the conservative viewpoint."

This, generally, means a literalistic presentation of Old Testament episodes, some of which are viewed by experts in ancient Hebrew literature as couching truth in symbolic allegories rather than in strictly factual terms.

Bureau Estimates That Farming Will Decline Within Next 5 Years

By Mary Anita Laseter, Star Feature Writer

It is interesting to see how much our society has changed, judging from the changes in the kinds of jobs people will be asked to fill in the next few years. A new study by a statistical bureau estimates that more people will be working in every major occupation group, except farming.

By 1975—just 5 years from now—the number of people aged 16 and over working in the United States will soar to a new average of over 87 million—not including those in the Armed Forces. That same year farmers will decrease in number to only about 3 million.

Though the American farmer was once a large portion of our working population, mechanization has caused many of them now to go into other fields (of endeavor). We are producing more agricultural products than ever before but with less manpower.

So where will all these new jobs be found? The greatest need is for people who will perform all sorts of personal services, ranging from housekeepers and hairdressers to bartenders and bootblacks. Waiters, ushers, porters, elevator operators, hospital attendants, cooks, policemen and firemen will be in greater demand.

Since we are growing so rapidly in technical and scientific developments, the next largest increase in jobs will be for professional and technical people. In fact, it is estimated that by 1975 nearly 15 percent of all civilian employees will be in this category. Job growth will be

Champions Daughter Sentenced

LONDON (AP) — The daughter of former world heavy-weight boxing champion Gene Tunney was committed to a mental hospital today after admitting she bludgeoned her husband to death last Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Joan Tunney Wilkinson, 30, had pleaded guilty to manslaughter on the grounds of diminished responsibility in the death of her 31-year-old husband, Lynn Carter Wilkinson, in their rented cottage.

The Old Bailey criminal court here was told by a psychiatrist that Mrs. Wilkinson had suffered from schizophrenia for nine years and there was a real danger of her committing further unprovoked homicidal attacks.

Prosecutor Alan de Piro recommended that Mrs. Wilkinson be detained at the maximum security hospital at Broadmoor "without limitation on time."

Judge Carl Aarvold ordered her to be detained there. The judge said it was quite clear she was in great need of help from the medical services.

Nixon Blunt in Opinion on Crime Bill

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in a bluntly worded speech, said today Congress should act promptly on the administration's pending crime bills. He declared that failure to act "will be something the people will remember"—presumably in the November elections.

Talking informally in the White House Rose Garden to United States attorneys from all parts of the country, Nixon said this is "the time for congress to get off dead center, and send him 13 anti-crime measures, most of which have been awaiting action for 18 months."

The chief executive said he was no stranger to partisan politics and "can understand Congress dragging its feet." But he said the crime issue is of such concern to both Democrats and Republicans that there should be no partisanship in weighing the pending legislation.

Murder and Suicide is Verdict

Hempstead County Coroner John T. Honeycutt has ruled murder and suicide in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold William Parks of Route 1, Blevins.

The bodies of the victims were discovered about noon Friday in their home by a relative. The Parks had last been seen alive last Saturday.

State and county police and Honeycutt investigated and the coroner's report stated that Parks had shot his wife and then himself with a 12 Ga. shotgun.

Parks, 50, was a veteran of World War 2 and had been employed at Land O'Lakes Farm at Blevins.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nettie Parks of Prescott; one brother, Edmund Lee Parks of LaMirda, Calif., and one sister Mrs. Donna Stroud of Tacoma, Wash.

Graveside services were to be conducted for Parks at 10 a.m. Saturday at Liberty cemetery, east of Prescott, with Rev. Smothers officiating.

Mrs. Imma Cleon Martin Parks, 56, formerly of Wood County, Texas, is survived by one son, James V. Kennamer of Longview; two daughters, Mrs. William Meadows of Longview and Mrs. Bill Harding of Blevins; one brother, Cleburne Martin of Mineral Wells, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Vernon Gilbreath of Kermit, Texas, Mrs. Ellie Spigner of Quitman, Texas and Mrs. Buster Freeman of Abilene.

Graveside services were to be held today (Saturday) at 2 p.m. at Rock Hill cemetery near Quitman.

Hostages Released in Jordan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordan moved back from the edge of a civil war Friday when an Arab guerrilla leader freed 62 foreign hostages, saying he was satisfied with concessions made by King Hussein. Two plane loads of Americans were evacuated from Amman, the tense Jordanian capital.

Travelers from the embattled city reported that after five days of virtual war between Jordanian troops and guerrillas the streets were filled with rubble, wrecked vehicles and bodies. An estimated 700 persons were killed or wounded in the strife, touched off by an army crackdown on guerrilla activities.

The hostages—21 Americans, 35 Britons and 6 West Germans—were told by Dr. George Habbash, head of the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, that Hussein had met the group's demands and they were free to go.

Hussein made a major concession to the guerrillas Thursday when he dismissed his uncle and his cousin from command of important army units. There was no indication that Hussein acceded to a guerrilla demand that he renounce his commitment to a political settlement of the Arab nations' dispute with Israel.

Most of the 145 Americans flown out of Amman aboard two Lebanese airliners were women and children. All but 10 of them flew to Athens after a brief stopover in Beirut, the Lebanese capital. Among those who went to Athens were the widow and children of Army Maj. Robert P. Perry of Chicago, the U.S. military attaché killed by guerrillas who invaded his home in Amman Wednesday.

The State Department in Washington said about 200 American citizens remained in Amman, and a spokesman said any decision on whether to evacuate them would be made by the U.S. charge d'affaires in the Jordanian capital.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers denied that the U.S. Army 82nd Airborne Division—or any other American military unit—was being readied to intervene in Jordan.

Ohio Sued by Kent Father

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The father of 19-year-old Allison Krause, one of four Kent State University students killed during a May 4 confrontation with National Guardsmen, has filed a $6 million wrongful death suit against Ohio officials.

Arthur Krause of Pittsburgh, Pa., filed the suit in U.S. District Court here Wednesday. He named as defendants Gov. James A. Rhodes; the Ohio National Guard commander, Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso, and Brig. Gen. Robert H. Canterbury, head of Ohio's Army National Guard units.

Krause charged that the defendants ordered the National Guard to the campus and in so doing "intentionally and maliciously disregarded the lives and safety of students, spectators and passersby, including Allison Krause."

His suit also contended that the three leaders knew there was not enough cause to send the troops to the campus and that the troops were not properly trained in using loaded weapons in the presence of civilians who were not similarly armed.

Reward in Memphis Dropped

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The $30,000 reward in the murder of Memphis millionaire George L. Lenox is to be withdrawn, but $5,000 will be donated to police to aid their efforts to solve the case.

The reward, to be dropped June 19, was posted by Betty Lenox, widow of the slain horseman and businessman, and David Gwaltney, a business associate of her husband.

Police said Mrs. Lenox and Gwaltney have decided to give $2,500 each to the Tennessee and Mississippi authorities to assist them in investigating the killing.

Outbreak of Locusts in Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The so-called 17-year locusts have emerged from their underground burrows in various parts of the nation to drum their familiar mating song through another summer.

A survey showed today the outbreak of the insects, which are actually misnamed periodic cicadas, has primarily occurred in wooded areas of the East and Middle West.

Particularly heavy concentrations were reported only in certain areas of Indiana. Along Fall Creek in northeast Indianapolis the insects were almost as thick as swarming bees and the noise of the incessantly drummed love songs was deafening.

Although the cicadas generally cause little damage to plant life, they have cut through the branches of many maple, mulberry and fruit trees in the Fall Creek area.

The cicadas caused slight damage to fruit trees in northeastern West Virginia.

In Minneapolis, entomologists said the outbreak was not severe and they were not recommending anything for controlling the insects.

Columbus, Ohio, and many other areas in the Midwest had outbreaks of the bugs, but none of the outbreaks were reported to be troublesome.

A spokesman for the New York State Conservation Department said the state has escaped a major infestation this year. He said the insects have not generally been causing problems.

"They don't defoliate like the Biblical locusts which are grasshoppers," he said.

Coolers to Have New Safety Value

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ice chest manufacturers whose products are designed for beer, sandwiches and other picnic items will build emergency escape devices into their new models in an effort to prevent additional deaths among toddlers who have been trapped inside.

At least 16 children have suffocated in picnic coolers since 1961, the Commerce Department reported Thursday. Officials think many other cases may not have made it into the department's records.

Union Man Rescued by Policemen

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the letter carriers local that spearheaded the March postal strike have voted narrowly to put off until July 1 a decision on renewing the walkout.

The move came in a raucous meeting Thursday that ended with supporters of an immediate strike storming the speakers' platform and waving fists at the union leader, Gus Johnson.

Police rescued Johnson, president of the 6,000-member Branch 36 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and led him down a fire escape as brawling broke out in the seventh floor meeting room.

Branch 36, representing carriers in Manhattan and the Bronx, struck March 18 and the walkout quickly snowballed into the first nationwide postal strike in U.S. history.
